World Rhinoplasty Week

2024, November 2 - 7

Chairman:
Cameron MCINTOSH

Venue:
Port Elizabeth,
South Africa

Dear Esteemed Partners,

We extend a warm invitation for the upcoming edition of WORLD RHINOPLASTY WEEK 2024!

We are thrilled to announce this exceptional event in its form, since it will start with a friendly competition on rhinoplasty of 72 countries, for 24 consecutive hours, accessible online throughout the planet from November 2nd 5am to 3rd 5am, 2024.

At the end of these “Rhinoplasty Olympics”, participants will have access to a day of dissection at the Nelson Mandela University in Port Elizabeth on November 4th. Here again, an exclusivity of WRW2024 is to offer the possibility to the participants a variety of ethnic specimen to operate under the supervision of world-renowned experts.

A 2,5-day hybrid meeting will follow, with 6 live surgeries and skin management and injectable sessions.

The WRW2024 seeks to truly capture a forward-thinking spirit with the top specialists, industry players, and our extensive community of physicians to create a hub of information and new ideas. You don't want to miss it! Among our continuously growing global community, your sponsorship will have limitless potential with opportunities to build brand awareness, display recent products, network, develop your business objectives, and explore the latest industry work. We are so excited to partner with each of you for our brightest, most eventful year yet. We invite you to book your participation for this unbeatable edition of celebration and innovation. See you in November 2024!

UEM8080A three phase energy meter with built-in communication
4 DIN modules energy meter for the energy measurement in industrial and civilian application, with the following built-in communication, according to the model: RS485 Modbus RTU/ASCII, I2C-Bus or Ethernet Modbus TCP. Available with MID certification suitable for billing.

PQM4000 Power Quality Meter
PQM4000 is a high-end power quality analyzer; able to monitor and record the major power quality parameters. It provides an accurate measurement, voltage and current characteristics are monitored according to Class A specification. At the same time it acts as event/fault recorder, capable to store a high number of voltage events and disturbances, frequency variations, inrush current, etc. Additional PQ data can be recorded, such as Flicker, Unbalance, Harmonics and Interharmonics, Island Signaling. It also provides standard power measurement data for three-phase systems, Extra voltage and current measurement channels give the possibility to monitor Neutral Potential and Earth Leakage Current.

UPM309RGW DIN 96x96 multifunction three-phase meter with Rogowski coils
UPM309 is an innovative instrument for measurement and recording of the electrical parameters. It is particularly suitable for consumption analysis and control, with an excellent quality/price ratio. The connections are very quick and easy, very useful for retrofitting applications on existing switchboards or for energy audit. UPM309 is the ideal instrument to establish the measurement points on the plant. The instrument can communicate through the RS485 serial port by MODBUS RTU/ASCII protocol or through Ethernet port by MODBUS TCP protocol. Furthermore, it is available the WintoolNET software for the instrument remote management. Web interface is also available in case of instrument with Ethernet port: a very useful function that gives the possibility to manage the instrument by a
